Reading classes emphasize sound-symbol relationships, phonics, structural analysis, and literal, interpretative, critical, and creative comprehension. Composition, spelling, penmanship, and proofing skills are taught. Students progress as they master each skill. Classes also focus on the study skills such as, selecting the topic and main idea, determining relevancy, outlining, following directions, surveying chapters and books, and reading graphic aids. Timed reading practices help students develop fluency.

Grammar, vocabulary, and comprehension instruction are available for the non-English speaker. Please call for special classes.
